

newsletter

Certified Entrepreneurship Teacher, Lencie Affonso teaching a technology workshop at Dent Middle School in Columbia, SC.

Technology Workshop a Success

A need always exists for providing new technology skills to teachers who serve in all aspects of education. As a result of this need, Joyce Simons hosted and Lencie Affonso taught a technology workshop for YEScarolina Certified Entrepreneurship Teachers. The workshop was held on November 22nd at Dent Middle School in Columbia, SC. This highly informative workshop instructed teachers in several areas of technology. Topics covered during the workshop were: "The Next Generation of Entrepreneurs and Technology (Student and Teacher Perspectives)", "What's Your Story? Student Entrepreneurs as Active Creators of Online Content", "Professional and Social Networks for Youth Entrepreneurs", and "Turning Free into Profit: Web 2.0 Software for Youth Entrepreneurs". Each of these topics were accompanied by instruction on popular Internet resources that teachers can use to better serve their students. Internet resources covered included PhotoStory, Teacher Tube, YouTube, Linked-In, Facebook, and Microsoft Office Live Small Business. Certified Entrepreneurship Teachers in attendance were Nelsa Padin-Verticcio, Jean Vess, Mary Williams, Phyllis Utley, Renate Gunnels, Michele Jackson, Wanda Fulmore, Christa Sanders, Bob Mauro, Rhonda Robinson, Jacqueline Barnett, Robin Keyes, Carol Charette, and Roger Roberg. YEScarolina thanks Joyce Simons, Lencie Affonso, and all attendees for making this workshop possible!

"I will use this information to help students learn how to be cost effective in their business wherever possible" -CET from the Technology Workshop

Additions to our Website

- New "Competitions" page
- Updated Teacher Resources
- All current & past newsletters
- Graduate credit options